

Course No. and Title	22. CULTURAL DIVERSITY COMPETENCY FOR SECONDARY EDUCATORS
Best For	All educators including administrators, certified teachers, coaches, counselors, club sponsors, school nurses, non-certified staff, parents, all those willing to better understand the diversity of cultures of the students in order to help increase attendance, attitude and academics.
Description	Greater numbers of students including Minorities and new immigrants are entering today's classrooms with an increasing diversity of communication styles, cultural values and behaviors that may be unfamiliar to teachers. Research shows that the lack of understanding of the students from the part of the teachers hinders teaching and learning efforts, and greatly affects attendance, classroom management, discipline referrals, character, and drop-out rates. In order to improve the attitude and academics of diverse students, teachers need to raise their awareness and leverage of important differences between cultures, especially those that have a direct impact on teaching and learning in the multicultural classrooms. This workshop highlights the main characteristics of diverse learners and how educators can capitalize on them to enhance, rather than hinder, learning at the elementary levels.
