

Course No. and Title	7. "LUNCH & LEARN" WORLD CULTURES
Best For	The General audience - All industries - All professions. Anyone willing to understand other cultures, to interact, work and live in diverse environments.
Description	In today's increasingly global world, as more people with different cultural backgrounds interact and work together, there come inevitable moments of confusion, misunderstanding or disappointment during which communication seems to be difficult. This is due to the fact that each of us views the world through "cultural lenses" constructed by us or imposed to us by the society. As a result, we see the world not as it is, but as we are, and interact with others based on our reference of reality. Participants in our "Lunch & Learn" World Cultures session will learn how to become aware of the presence and the impact of their cultural lenses in their daily attitudes and behaviors. Through hilarious and sometimes disastrous but real anecdotes drawn from various cultures in all continents, they will develop themselves an understanding of "Always do", "Never do", "Dos" and "Don'ts" as they move around the world or interact locally to people from other cultures.
